

SECOND SESSION TO OPEN JULY 20

EMPHASIS ON FINE AND APPLIED ARTS.

The second term of the summer session will open here July 20th and class work will begin July 21st.

The daily schedule of classes for this term consists of three two-hour periods, beginning at 8 a. m., running until 1 p. m., and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The library will be open during class hours and until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, also immediately following the lunch hour and from 8 to 10 o'clock at night.

The swimming pool will not be open, neither will there be any form of play ground activities. However, some of the men may be interested in knowing that Coach Smith will have a coaching class in football and basketball in the afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock.

The faculty for the session includes: Thomas Askeu, social science; Mrs. E. L. Barnes, music; J. E. Carruth, education; William Deal, music; Elizabeth Edenfield, English; Sscar W. Hampton, education; W. S. Han-ner, physical science; H. H. London, industrial arts; Mrs. Pearl Mapp, commercial; Hassie Maude McEl-veen, library; Hester Newton, social science; Fielding Russell, English; Mary A. Small, art; B. L. Smith, physical education; Paul Thompson, science.

The major emphasis during the second term is placed on fine and applied arts. The cost for the term is $37.50.

FACULTY MEMBERS TO GIVE LECTURES

Humanities and Social Sciences to Be Discussed Next Year.

"Special interest lectures" for the humanities and social science courses will be given by faculty members here during the ensuing year for the purpose of stimulating students to study further into special fields of knowledge.

Stimulation of interest in outside lectures is an important feature in the purpose of this program.

These lectures are of a double feature with material drawn from both the fields of humanities and that of social science.

The lectures will be given at 7:15 o'clock in the evening somewhere on the campus of South Georgia Teachers College at intervals of two weeks which will run from October 10 until May 27.

The program is scheduled as follows:

Henderson, "Primitive Form of the Family."

Destler, "Dawn of Conscience."

Rosenwald Fund to Provide Additions To Regular Faculty

A $10,000 fund which will allow the addition of three members to the college faculty has been provided by the Rosenwald Fund beginning this fall.

In a recent statement, Dr. M. S. Pittman disclosed that the purpose of this project will be three-fold: To extend the service of the industrial arts department; to provide specialists in the teaching of tool subjects, particularly in reading, and to promote better rural life.

The last named phase is a new one in the Rosenwald work and it is expected that it will be of great service in Georgia and other southern states in making life more meaningful for those who live in the rural districts.

South Georgia Teachers College was selected as the first teachers college with which to co-operate in this work. If it proves successful here it will probably be extended to other teachers' colleges of the South.

Dr. Pittman stated that a wide search was being made to find the best persons available for these positions.

LARGEST COUNTY ENROLLMENT HERE

BULLOCH LEADS WITH 67; TATTNALL SECOND.

The 1936 summer session has the greatest number of counties ever represented here in a summer term. There are students from 94 counties registered with a total enrollment of 613.

Leading in number enrolled is Bulloch with a total of 67 as compared to 68 during the first summer session of last year. Tattnall is second with 32, and Evans is third with 24.

The following graph shows ten counties having the largest enrollment this summer as compared to their respective enrollment for 1935 and 1934.

Counties	1936	1935	1934
Bulloch . . . . .	67	68	95
Tattnall . . . . .	32	22	32

THIRD ANNUAL MEN'S STEAK DINNER BE HELD WEDNESDAY AT BEECHWOOD

Bachelors Go to Sea And See Many Sights

"And what did we see, we saw the sea."

Forsaking the security of the repression of the bonds of bachelorhood, the Bachelors Club joined hands with the fairer sex, and with the co-operation of Father Neptune, made a vociferous trip to Beaufort last Sunday.

The trip was educational, certainly. It was in particular for one person who, upon seeing a large red sea turtle, exclaimed, "Look, what a large red snapper!" Somebody came to his rescue.

Many interesting historical points were passed during the journey. Stops were made at Par-ris Island, Daufuski Island, Spanish Wells, Hilton Head Island, S. C., Jenkins Island, S. C., and a number of other smaller islands.

The trip was made by way of the inland water route to Beaufort, which passes through Port Royal sound.

TWO HUNDRED TO PARTICIPATE

Masculine Sex to Eat, Drink and Make Merry Wednesday.

The third annual Men's Steak Dinner will be held at Beechwood, on Wednesday, June 8, from 4 to 6 p. m.

The feature of the outing Wednesday will be a tramp through the woods conducted by Dr. R. J. H. De-Loach. Dinner will be served at 5:45 p. m., followed by a program of short talks and music. Speeches will be made by several visitors and a number of students. The college band will furnish music for singing, which will be led by Prof. J. W. Yoder.

Chancellor S. V. Sanford, of the University System; Regent S. H. Morgan, of Guyton, and John Kennedy, of Savannah, and others have been invited for the dinner. All men enrolled in the summer session are expected to attend. A transportation committee has been appointed and rides will be provided for everyone.

NEW PROJECT AT OGEECHEE SCHOOL

Miss Donovan Explains the Plan of General Education Board.

An incentive toward good work in the teacher training department of the South Georgia Teachers College will be the opportunity to teach in the Ogeechee School, located seven miles northeast of Statesboro, which will be run next year by student teachers under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Donovan.

According to Miss Donovan, the same plan will be followed in the primary and elementary departments of the school as is used in the campus Training School. For several reasons, it is thought that this plan will be more advantageous to supervision than that of the exchange teacher service which has been used for several years.

In the first place the practice teaching may be done under more direct supervision than when the students are scattered over a wide territory. Then the proximity to the college will allow others from the campus school to observe in the school. The student teachers will have a more enriched experience, living and working in the community for the three months that they teach there.

Tentative plans included the addition of courses in industrial and domestic arts to the regular curriculum of the school, for which the members of the board of education and others of the community are planning the construction of a new building. Pub-

STUDENTS HEAR NOTED EDUCATORS

I. S. INGRAM TO BE NEXT GUEST SPEAKER

A number of noted educators of Georgia have been invited by President Marvin S. Pittman to address the students of the session here this summer.

I. S. Ingram, president of West Georgia Teachers College, Carrollton, Ga., will be our next guest speaker. Other interesting visitors who have been invited are Judge Dickerson, of Douglas, a member of the Board of Regents; also Col. Sandy Beaver, chairman of the Board of Regents and president of Riverside Military Academy.

Addresses have been given by Peyton Jacobs, president of Georgia Southwestern College; George H. King, president of Abraham Baldwin College, Tifton; L. H. Browning, president of Middle Georgia College, Cochran, and Miss Annie Taylor, supervisor of dental health education, state department.

Each week the student body looks forward to the visits made by the leading educators of our state.

have had seven out-of-state representatives. This summer we have three students from Florida, one from Alabama, one from Tennessee, and two from Cuba.

THE PUBLISHERS

This issue of the George-Anne was written, edited and made up by students in the summer journalism class. During the regular session the paper is a bi-weekly publication of the entire student body of the college.

No apologies are to be made for the paper, though the matter in the paper has been prepared by twenty-five young men and women who have had little more than four weeks training in journalism, and in their attempt to give you an example of a college newspaper, you must bear with them because the best of the best were not polished in their first attempts.

In the course of study offered this session the students have studied the organization of the newspaper, the make-up of a newspaper, how to write the simple news story, and other fundamentals connected with newspaper work. The last week of the term will be given over to the weekly newspaper, the school newspaper, and school publicity.

Regardless of one's profession, journalism will sometimes come to their rescue; it will help the doctor, the lawyer, the banker, and particularly the school teacher.

The South Georgia Teachers College is anxious to see as many school papers established in Georgia schools as possible during the next twelve months. The students, who have attended these classes in the past summers, have gone in all sections of the state and though often times in a limited way, have started papers in the elementary and high schools of Georgia.

Physical education has proved so beneficial to the students of South Georgia Teachers College that during the 1936-37 term students desiring this course will be permitted to get a major in this field for the first time.

In discussing the progress of transportation, Dean Henderson predicts that in the future, one will be able to leave Savannah at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, fly to New York in three hours, see a show, and return at 2 o'clock in the morning.

The state is emphasizing industrial arts in the new curriculum, and Dr. H. H. London, who has been asked to serve in this field, gives the following plans for S. G. T. C.: There will be two instructors in that department this fall, new machinery will be installed. Twelve courses will be offered, and a person may major in this department.

THE TEACHER AND PLAY

Show me the teacher who goes to summer school expecting to lay aside her dignity when games and songs are mentioned; let me gaze on the teacher (even though elderly she be) is participating whole-heartedly in the group games and parties, and I will point out to you a teacher who shall not become out of date in her profession.

Any teacher too old to play is too feeble to teach. Any teacher too timid to enter socialized mass play is very likely to be lacking in the self-confidence which is essential to leadership in her own community. Any teacher afraid of laughs at her own expense will hardly be good material for teaching sportsmanship to her own students.

Let us practice what we preach by taking advantage of every available opportunity for self-advancement. There are many benefits other than scholastic credit to be gained from attending a summer session at the South Georgia Teachers College. A rejuvenated teacher with renewed inspiration should result from unstinted co-operation with the school program.

Be fair to yourself and to your children. Become familiar with new songs, games and ideas. Sing so lustily and harmoniously as to please Mr. Yoder. Play as vigorously as "Miss Honey" Yoder. Play as vigorously as "Miss Honey" leads. With an open mind follow Mr. Downs through the Training School. Then your future students will bless the hours that you enjoyed at the South Georgia Teachers College.

YOUR CHILD'S TEACHER

I sing the praise of the unknown teacher. Great generals win campaigns, but it is the unknown soldier who wins the war. It is the unknown teacher who delivers and guides the young. He lives in obscurity and contends with hardship. For him no trumpets blare, no chariots wait, no golden decorations are decreed. He keeps the watch along the borders of darkness and makes the attack on the trenches of ignorance and folly. He awakens sleeping spirits. He quickens the indolent, encourages the eager, and steadies the unstable. He communicates his own joy in learning and shares with boys and girls the best treasures of his mind. He lights many candles which, in later years, will shine back to cheer him. This is his reward.—Henry Van Dyke.

Eighty-one students are now enrolled in the Educational Art classes here, Miss Carpenter reports. The size of this class indicates an increase in the interest of teachers in creative art.

It is rumored that Doc Destler has been romancin' and is gwine git hitched up after school busts up. Al Henderson beat him to it a few days ago. Ain't that real romantical?

THE BATTLE OF THE CHINCHES

The chinch bugs (5,000 strong) were quietly munching on the boys in Anderson Hall, when suddenly they saw the battle flags of Admiral Byrd and Aunt Sophie boldly approaching. General Chinchilla laughed to see them come and proudly shouted defiance: "Toss on thy itching bed, man, ne'er will we be sought in our secret lair. We laugh at your feeble efforts, we scorn your hideous, savage poisons."

But little did they know their approaching doom, and little did they understand that the night would find them in chaos. Admiral Byrd (his sword aloft) advanced with soulless courage and clouds of spray filled the air. The chinch bugs sang their battle songs, and even boldly leaped upon the admiral, but he would not stop until every chinch lay stretched its full length, and Aunt Sophie advanced even into the homes of the chinch bugs and trained the blow torch to work its murder.

Fierce grew the carnage, and the struggle seemed to turn against the admiral late in the afternoon when in room 20 General Chinchilla called upon the air power of the mosquitoes, and the day looked dark when Dr. Pittman chanced upon the scene. "Horrible, the carnage," murmured the admiral to Dr. Pittman, "Kill 'em all," quoth he, with out pity.

But the desperate efforts of the chinch bugs failed, nor could they stay the wrath of the admiral when, his fury aroused, he threw a last barrage and staggered out to the hall. General Chinchilla, proud even in defeat, flew a pair of white pajamas, and gave up his sword to the admiral (representing the University System). No chinch bug but lay dead on the field, and some were on the ceiling. As the news of the great victory spread through the dormitory all rejoiced: "We are free from bondage; no longer do we squirm in subjection to the chinch bugs!"

The Great Council of Monitors in solemn meeting knighted the conquering admiral and declared him Viceroy of Anderson Hall. The hearts of all loyal Andersonians were raised in gratitude, when a quiet pean of song seemed to raise on the breeze, and to their surprise, it was mosquitoes which had gotten through an open window.

"We want bells," was the cry during the regular session. Now we have bells, bells, bells—"The Bells of St. Mary's."

Miss Ruth Carpenter, of the Woman's College at Valdosta, says "I think the spirit of the students and faculty at summer school here is so fine, and I don't think I've ever met up with a more favorable group."

lie school music and physical education will also be included in the program of work.

The Ogeechee School community has shown a spirit of co-operation and enthusiasm toward the new project and it is expected that interest will increase as the work progresses.

The Zippers zipped right through the indoor league.

King Jim Cherry, or ex-King, seems to be the heaviest hitter in the league, getting about two home runs in each game, except against the poor Nameless.

* * * * *

The Nameless lose their games but they still fight for every game. They were at last rewarded. They defeated the league-leading Zippers by one run. It was the last game for both teams.

"Precious" Warren is a tough hombre. He ran into and K.O.'ed Cox in the ball game against the Zippers. Then Warren got up, shook his head, and threw the ball into third and almost caught the runner stealing. Cox had to be carried off the field.

Al Henderson ought to get married every day if his team wins the indoor games and gives them to him for a wedding present. They surely did play hard for Al the day he married.

Jim Jordan's Hustlers is the "argument" team in the league. They even argue to get a run. Ask me—I know.

* * * * *

Jim looked good in that chaingang suit and jail the other day. A few of the ball players sho' would like to see him there after some of the games.

"Little Dean" Red Henderson struck out three times against the Nameless team the other day. He claims, though, that he was called out on two strikes one time.

EVERYTHING PARTY A DECIDED SUCCESS

The outstanding social event of the summer session was staged Saturday evening, June 27th, in the Gymnasium, on the lawn and in the lobby of the auditorium.

William Deal and his twelve-piece orchestra furnished music for the dance held in the Gymnasium, and Miss Dorothy Newborn, the torch singer, added an extra attraction.

Statues made from potatoes was one outstanding game played on the lawn, especially when Dr. Pittman guessed which statue was himself. He had to play a solo on the harmonica for guessing. Jim Jordan had Dr. Pittman where he wanted him in the talking and ice-melting contest—Dr. Pittman had to hold the ice while Jim talked. Other games, which were sponsored by Gwendolyn Dekle, were poisoned handkerchief, suitcase relay, the boardwalk and the amateur program. The following radio stars were seen in person, Kate Smith, Ginger Rogers, Mae West, Joe E. Brown and Bing Crosby.

Four games were going on at once in the lobby of the auditorium, one table each of Authors and Pollyanna, three of checkers and five of bridge. Dr. Smith had a time lecturing to Mrs. Smith and pleading with her not to raise his bid without an ace. Like all wives, she had her way and Aunt Sophie, who had the ace, smiled slyly at her partner, Nell Winn. Evidently Mrs. Smith wanted to play a joke on Dr. Smith when she bid a no-trump and began playing spades. The game was so interesting Aunt Sophie missed the dance, the punch, and worst of all, the whole table missed the prize (Octagon soap).

The entire event was sponsored by Mrs. Bowen's physical education class 305. The following were chairmen of the committees: Of the dance, Leah Dora McWaters of the bridge party, J. T. Jones of the out-door party, Mrs. Beal Hall.

The group activities are looking forward for a big banquet which will be held Saturday, July 11th.

TATTNALL COUNTY WINNER IN PARADE

DECATUR GETS SECOND; TWO TIE FOR THIRD.

Tattnall county won first place in the county parade held here June 23 in the Gymnasium during the chapel hour. Decatur county was second, while Crisp and Telfair tied for third place.

Dean Z. S. Henderson called the county roll in alphabetical order and each group marched to the center of the Gymnasium, carrying posters and placards, which boosted their counties' outstanding developments. Some of the groups gave yells and songs, others came up with stunts.

A small number of students enrolled from several counties and adjoining states did not enter the parade. Bulloch county had the largest group.

Work Begun on New $85,000 Dormitory

The construction of Sanford Hall, new $85,000 dormitory for men, is being promoted rapidly. When finished the new hall will have 78 rooms to accommodate 156 students, three faculty apartments and a large recep-tion room.

The erection of the new dormitory will make possible the use of West Hall for women. It is hoped that the new dormitory will be completed and ready for use during the fall term. In case the building is not ready, the men will probably use West Hall and the women students will be asked to double up until the new hall is finished.

Because of the fact that this new building is the result of prodigious efforts of Chancellor S. V. Sanford, and because of the interest he has taken in young men, the dormitory will be named in his honor.

The Artley Company of Savannah, contractor for the new building, began work on the project last week. Levy & Clark, also of Savannah, are the architects.

PITTMAN VISITS SEVERAL SOUTHERN COLLEGES

President Marvin S. Pittman will return to the campus tonight after a week's absence. While away Dr. Pittman visited the University of North Carolina, Duke University, Peabody College and Vanderbilt Uni-versity.

President Pittman spent at least one day in each of these outstanding southern colleges, while making an informal visit interviewing prospec-tive candidates for positions here.

VIEWS OF THE SESSION BY FACULTY MEMBERS

State Supervisor M. R. Little in speaking of the summer school says, "The students are very interested and seem to be working, and I am well pleased with the work that is go-ing on."

Prof. Dice R. Anderson Jr., of Mid-dle Georgia College of Cochran, in speaking of the summer school here says, "I have never taught at any other teachers' college, but have at-tended summer school at Columbia and find a more seriousness of pur-pose among students here than at Co-lumbia."

Prof. J. T. Ecker, of Middle Geor-gia College of Cochran, in giving his opinion of the summer school here, says, "There seems to be a good com-bination of work and play among the students and I have found their work very satisfactory. They seem to be more interested in their work than I have found at summer schools else-where."
